The City of Armadale has improved in 40 out of 44 performance measures according to an independent tracking survey among 502 randomly selected residents*.

- As a place to live, 91% of respondents provided a positive rating, up 5% points.
- As a governing organisation, 87% of respondents provided a positive rating, up 14% points.

The City has perceived strengths in waste collections, libraries, festivals, events and cultural activities, and playgrounds, parks and reserves. Relative to the MARKYT® Industry Standards, the City is performing on par or above average in 30 out of 46 areas.

Moving forward the community would like the City of Armadale to focus on 4 key priorities:

- 1. Community safety and working with Police to manage anti-social behaviour, especially in and around Armadale City Centre and train stations.
- 2. Value for money from rates. With challenging economic times, residents are concerned about the cost of rates and ask that rate increases be limited.
- 3. Streetscapes. Residents would like greater care, maintenance and beautification of streetscapes, and for residents to have more pride in their own homes, to make the area more appealing for residents, visitors and investors.
- 4. Economic development. Continue to revitalise and promote the area to attract investors, new industries and businesses, and to create more local job opportunities.

Secondary priorities include education and training, youth services and facilities, and more effective consultation to improve Councillors' and staff understanding of community needs.

Similar to other councils, the City would benefit from developing a clear, shared and inspiring vision for the area. Currently, only 39% of residents agree that the City has developed and communicated a clear vision.

The City may also benefit from a strategic campaign to improve residents' overall sense of pride and belief in the area. Currently the City of Armadale has a Net Promoter Score of -42 (on a scale of -100 to +100). This is low and 36 points below the industry average. While residents think the area is improving as a place to live, they are not yet willing to recommend it to others.

* Analysis based on performance and agree/disagree questions where historical results are available.

The Study

In October, the City of Armadale administered a MARKYT® Community Scorecard to evaluate community priorities and measure Council's performance against key indicators in the Strategic Community Plan.

Scorecards invitations were send to 7,000 randomly selected residents (1,000 by mail and 6,000 by email).

In total, 502 residents submitted a valid response reducing the sampling error to  $\pm 4.36\%$  at the 95% confidence interval and providing a high level of confidence in the results.

The final dataset was weighted by age and gender to match the ABS Census population profile.

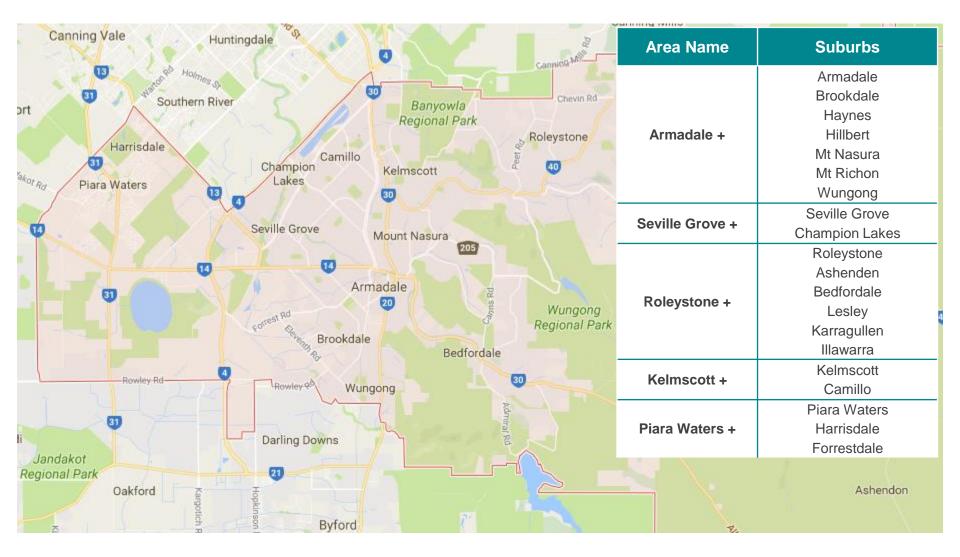

Data has been analysed using SPSS. Where sub-totals add to  $\pm 1\%$  of the parts, this is due to rounding errors to zero decimal places.

Industry comparisons are provided against all councils that have completed a MARKYT® Community Scorecard, along with a subset of like councils.

MARKYT Industry Standards

CATALYSE® has conducted MARKYT® Community Scorecards and Community Perceptions Surveys for 50 organisations. When three or more councils have asked a comparable question, we publish the high score to enable participating councils to recognise and learn from the industry leaders. In this report, the 'high score' is calculated from WA councils that have completed an accredited study with CATALYSE® within the past two years. Participating councils are listed below.

MARKYT Industry Standards | like council subset

How to read the MARKYT ♦ Benchmark Matrix ™

The MARKYT® Benchmark Matrix ™ (shown in detail overleaf) illustrates how the community rates performance on individual measures, compared to how other councils are being rated by their communities.

There are two dimensions. The vertical axis maps community perceptions of performance for individual measures relative to the average score for all measures. The horizontal axis maps performance relative to other councils.

Councils aim to be on the right side of this line, with performance ABOVE the industry or sub-group average.

performance for all individual measure. As it represents the average, around half of the service areas will be placed above the line, and around half will be positioned below the line.

This line represents Council's average
